

Charles Mitchell

I think it would be dangerous to reduce or eliminate any tug escorts from the current ruling. As enough damage is done to the environment just with the existing traffic. No point in increasing the potential for spills too.