

Donna Dawson

As much work that has been put into the advancement of the Camas-Washougal communities, it would be an absolute shame and embarrassment for the papermill to abandon this community at the very end. The mill made this community possible and the only appropriate way to close out its relationship with the community it built is to take responsibility for what it's leaving behind.