

Nancy Johnson

Cleaning up after yourself is a shared value and legal precedent for individuals.

Corporations have received trillions of our dollars and freely polluted for many years. We are collectively paying - again - for their irresponsible actions which have resulted in the climate crisis including air, water and land pollution.

Chevron must completely clean up the Unocal Edmonds Bulk Fuel Terminal 0178 site. Don't let them off the hook.