

Karen Guzak

Chevron made the mess in the bulk terminal, and should clean it up. These oil companies get the benefit of federal tax breaks and make huge profits every year. Demand that they restore the estuary to mitigate climate changes and return this place to nature and to the people in this region who care so much about our home.