

Katrina Riippa

Wouldn't Chevron benefit from being able to say they contributed to the long-term health of the local environment? Bringing back salmon increases the likelihood of the survival of local marine mammals, as well. Many PNW natives (and Native Americans) have concerns about the dwindling salmon populations and its effect on the marine food chain.