

David Matthews

I believe it is incumbent upon the Chevron Corporation who made the mess to clean it up.

We need to ensure we have a more accurate and current cost-benefit calculation and feasibility study that include environmental hazards from climate change and sea level rising.

And perhaps most importantly, Tribal rights and interests must be included in the feasibility study.