DOE,

It is imperative that chevron/unocal be held accountable for the soil contamination at the designated site(s). They reaped the financial benefit of the asphalt production site and should not be allowed to walk away from a total clean-up of the site. An alternative, less expensive modified clean-up is not acceptable. Chevron has a social responsibility to do the right thing and be held to the same standard that would be expected of other companies who pollute the earth.
