

Jessica Miller

After everything this community has been through its is imperative that this process gets expedited with the full attention of all agencies involved so the park can be fully returned to public use as quickly as possible. During the course of this process the park must remain open (rotating in smaller sections of work if necessary), including maintaining beach access to the water. If beach access is to be restricted - work must be limited to the winter months of November to February to limit disruption of public use.