

Howard Glastetter

Any serious Budd Bay pollution source will affect much of Puget sound via tidal flush. Serious toxins should be removed. The permeable soil of a gravel mine should never have been a garbage dump, especially for toxic minerals (e.g., creosote). This product is now outlawed as a fence post preservative. The source of this pollution should be removed.