

karl duscher

Why does this require a unique public participation plan? Aren't there standard requirements for posting notices and inviting public comments regardless of the project?