

Richard Parr

Vancouver Lake is the only decent rowing course in Washington State. Our state is famous for its rowing, from the thousands of junior rowers, through college, and to the World Championships and Olympics. The loss of such a venue would have drastic consequences for rowers throughout the Pacific Northwest. Vancouver Lake and its associated park are a great location for the continued development of our youth through our sport.