

Sara Amundson

As someone who was raised very close to the lake and its beauty, I believe it is imperative that the lake is treated and managed well, by both community members and the Ecology department. Our young people use this lake area for training (running, cycling, swimming, and boating) and community centered activities. To not offer it the attention it deserves is to not value our community. Vancouver has long been known as a close knit place to raise families. If we don't love and care for it, it will lose its great values. Please help us clean up the Vancouver Lake and surrounding natural areas!