

Austin Baker

Vancouver lake is a central location for creating a thriving community in the south west Washington region. But it is greatly suffering from the poor maintenance quality of recent years. I would submit that by cleaning and restoring vancouver lake, you would be making a significant investment into the lives of thousands of beach goers, boat sailors, and watercraft operators. As well as making an investment into the annual northwest regional championship that take place each spring for the US Rowing community bringing thousands of individual's and athletes from around the northwest to enjoy the beauty and sport at vancouver lake.