

Rebecca Lexa

Good evening,

I am writing to urge you to support removing dams on the lower Snake River to help protect salmon populations. These iconic fish are already facing enormous challenges, and the dams have cut distinct genetic populations off from their historic breeding grounds for decades. If we want salmon to survive, as well as the orcas and other animals who rely on them for food, then we need to preserve as much genetic diversity as possible.

Thank you,

Rebecca Lexa