

Lloyd Purdy

I support the proposal by Cooke Aquaculture to grow farm trout in Washington state .
I am a retired fish farmer with 30 years experience in Canada , Maine USA , and in Chile . My experience is that fish farming in general , and for this project in particular, is environmentally benign and a careful review of all the science supports this opinion.

It is in everyone's best interests for North American Communities to become more self sufficient in seafood.