I am completely opposed to allowing any kind of fish net pens in Puget Sound. The fact that the WA state Dept. of 'Ecology' is even considering allowing Cooke to stay in this business in this state is utterly appalling. Their track record of complete contempt for our laws, rules and regulations is well known and documented. I guess if you have enough money to throw around you can cause an agency supposedly dedicated to preserving and intelligently managing our precious natural resources to actively work to undermine its own mission.
