This makes no sense. They did a poor job previously managing their system and flew under everyone's radar until the pen catastrophe and then everyone was asking "how'd they even get to do this?!?" Seriously, it's near impossible for a private citizen to get any development consideration (dock, cabin, ect.) but they get a permit to put a pen in that covers a massive area? Makes no sense. Who on the permitting board is in cahoots with the farming company?!? And, the food quality is so substandard does anyone even buy & eat it? It's polluting the environment and you can stop it. Please stop it.
