

Meika Simms

With our current global crisis, we need to focus on becoming more self-sustaining. To know that 90% of our seafood is imported is a disturbing statistic. We have the opportunity with Cooke Aquaculture's proposed plan to provide locally grown seafood that supports the economy and reduces our dependence on imports.