

Karen Martin

I fully support Cooke Aquaculture's plan to raise non-reproductive triploid steelhead trout in Washington State. This is an excellent solution to provide sustainable seafood products while protecting wild fish stock. Aquaculture strengthens domestic food security and provides local jobs as well as increased local economic activity.