

Patricia Stavig

I used to work with the fish farms here in Anacortes. In that time and now the farms have worked well with the local businesses and government agencies. Unlike the misinformation that has been presented to the agency. The farms only supply the market when and where it is needed. They care about the environment, because the environment is their livelihood. Please approve these farms applications.