

Christopher Edwards

Simply changing the species of fish raised does not resolve the pollution and disease threats posed by net pens. The only real way to eliminate those threats is a total ban.