

Jean Thompson

It's not just Cooke Aquaculture that is the concern. It is ALL salt water aquaculture. In addition to the pollution and sea lice danger to our wild salmon runs is the pollution they re-circulate into the water in the farm areas when they butcher the fish. Those antibiotics, growth hormones and other chemicals they feed those fish are then forever circulating in our natural waters, impacting our wild fish runs. NO FARMED FISH! The pen failure at Cypress Island proved they are not meeting the requirements and there is no reason to believe anything has changed. Fish farming locations endanger our wild fish runs in numerous ways. NO FARMED FISH! In Washington, BC Canada or anywhere.