

peter millett

Besides tasting really bad, these farm raised fish pose a danger to native wild fish. The risk to wild fish has been demonstrated clearly. Let's learn from their record of negligence and disregard for our fragile Puget Sound. They can't be trusted. Why should we risk our precious environment for their financial gain.