

Randle Carr

Why do we need this industry at all? I saw Steelhead fillets in the store for $5.99 a pound the other day. Nobody was buying them. The reward of farming Salmonids does not outweigh the risks of the antibiotics, viruses, sea lice, and food pollution. This should be a dead industry, no need to continue net pen farming in the Salish Sea.