

Pamela Gray

There is simply no justification for allowing such an irresponsible corporation to damage the ecosystem AGAIN. The people of Washington gain NOTHING from their schemes. Please act responsibly. This kind of hazardous aquaculture has no place in Washington waters, especially under the management of such an irresponsible and negligent corporation. They have proven what they can and can't do. How do you ever expect anyone disturbing the ecological balance of our lands, and aquatic systems to expect anything but a reprimand and scolding when they cause horrendous and lasting damage. Stop being a joke. If you don't take your responsibility seriously there is no way to deal with environmental law breakers.