

peter dorn

where the pens are located, not enough current to disperse the fish poop and that promotes sea lice growth which attack migrating salmon/steelhead smolts, threatening their existence, officially listed under the ESA