

Jeff Waldron

This is still garbage. It is a permit to allow pollution from feed and fish feces. Reporting and monitoring does nothing to prevent the release of fish into a fragile environment. If Washington state cared about protecting natural resources such as salmon and orca no fish farms would be allowed. Revising a permit so they can raise native fish is a joke. This is still a dangerous operation. Easier to continue to limit salmon seasons and enforce closures while allowing private enterprises to utilize public resources to make a buck. Way to go Inslee minions or is that morons