

Laura G Medbury

I do not believe it is in the best interest of our waters or resident orcas regardless of pen raised finfish species. Discharges from pens such as fish feces, uneaten fish food, disease control chemicals milled into fish feed, biofouling organisms displaced from routine net cleaning, and escaped fish benefit no one except those who are making money on this process. We do not want penned fish farms in our waters! We oppose any fish farming especially from a company that has failed to show good stewardship of our waters.