

William Fitzsimmons

If the truth is told you have a foreign corporation that wants to exploit a local resource for profit without knowing whether or not the presence of their facilities will have a deleterious effect on a cherished and valued environment. Cooke Aquaculture has already proven they are not to be trusted with the operation and maintenance of their facilities. How long is it going to take the state of Washington to recognize the obvious. We do not need net pens. We need a healthy Puget Sound.