

Anonymous Anonymous

Why are the boatyards being punished by lowering the acceptable copper levels when ecology failed to ban the use of copper bottom paint. Who is going to pay to upgrade storm water systems for boatyards that have already spent 100's of thousands of dollars on current systems. Why are boatyards held to a higher standard than government agencies whose storm water flows to the same basins.