

Brendan Chan

Banning scrubbers is imperative to the health of the marine ecosystem and to the fish living in it, which may be subject to human consumption. It is nonsensical to drink from a poisoned well.