

Patricia Chambers

These creatures need a clean sea to swim and breed in. Honestly I'd much rather be around the wildlife in my yard than most humans. I would spend days on end in Puget Sound while in the military watching these whales swim and frolick. Never once did they show me any danger. They were amazing. It is my hopes that Washington will give these creatures the space they need and stop poisoning the waters.