

leora broche

Since the cruise line companies are making a profit by contaminating the waters, they should fix this problem immediately! Holding a course of fines as such to make them unable to continue the destruction of our waters. For Companies to wave a flag of " Look at and enjoy our Beautiful America" and be contaminating our waters so Flagrantly below them is irresponsible and unAmerican. Don't say yes it is make a profit-its the bottom line Stock Holders . We as Americans have standards. What happened to don't make a mess and if you do clean it up immediately because this earth belongs to so many others human, animal, plant. The individual even as a company has no right to flagrantly destroy the eco-system on any level . Our companies must use standards we can trust and be proud of. That is who we must be. That is the standard and strength of our nation.