

Peggy Van Sickle

Fuel oil, regardless of whether raw or used, does not belong in our oceans or seas. It kills off aquatic life and marine animals. It is doing an unknown amount of damage to our shorelines.