

Mary Ricketts

So why is an Ohio lady commenting on regulations for Puget Sound area? My husband and I have visited your scenic beauty more than once and immensely enjoyed the aquatic wildlife and fabulous views. Banning "scrubbers" that are intended to clean exhaust but then dumps the waste from scrubbers into the water to affect the sea life there sounds like the way to go. There is enough stress on nature and her creations from climate change. They should not have scrubber waste added to their worsening environment.
