

Karen Ingvaldstad

I live in a city that now has small cruisers coming in and I have cruised myself at least 4 times. However I value the ocean and lake life more than my ability to cruise. We must find a way to change to biodegradable wastes and not to destroy the biodiversity in our waters and for that matter on land and in the air. For the sake of our planet please refrain from this dumping and work to change the way we deal with our waste and change what we waste through recycling or using other products.