

Susan Xanthopoulos

We are on the precipice of saving marine life. Many marine animals are now endangered and having cruise ships in harms way of orcas is another problem we need to address. Cruise ships are forever orcas are not if we drive them to extinction. Please do the right thing!