

Helen Fisher

My husband and I enjoyed cruises as one of our favorite vacations however when we found out how environmentally destructive they are and how much they lie to the public. So we will stop going until they change the way they do business and become environmental advocates rather than enemies.