

Mike Mieszala

The solution to this pollution is not dilution.

Scrubbers move the pollution from one location to another. This does not eliminate the pollution source.

For too long now the approach to pollution has been to clean it after the pollution has occurred. We need to stop the pollution before it takes place. Let's rethink this.