

Diann Jenkins

We must protect all water resources from pollution. The wild life that live in these bodies of water must be protected. Many of these species are in our human food sources so their contamination become our contamination.