

Sonja Nelson

Cruise ships have no right to foul the oceans with their waste. They need to develop a system where they can retain the waste until it can be disposed of properly.