I just disagree with dumping waste of any kind in our water systems at this point in history. We can no longer do it. Water has become too precious and it will be going up in price as less and less "Clean" water is available. Scrubbers don't release clean waste. It's still waste. A whole system of creatures lives in our waters. Waters we depend on for drinking, fishing and just enjoying. Unhealthy water leads to unhealthy living beings. WE all depend on clean water and air. End the process.
