

S Davis

Of course, cruise ships are becoming bigger and bigger floating toilets but no one, not even ships that spend days on the oceans, should be treating these waters as places to dump crap, toxins and other garbage. compost everything and build a f*cking island somewhere with the stuff.