I mean come on, seriously? We have to still submit comments to defend our natural resources? First of all, cruises are just plain gross any way you look at it. Secondly, not only do we, as humans, mess everything up on land and in the air, we're actively trying to dump our literal shit on orcas???

Thirdly, this is a no-brainer - do what's right without the public having to TELL you what is right. Please protect our natural resources. Please.
