

Mariah Mitchell

Heavy fuel oil is incredibly toxic, even with scrubbers. Let's have the cruise industry step up and show us they're serious about caring for our planet - particularly the Puget Sound where toxicity has built up - by eliminating scrubber wastes. I have personally been on a cruise, and have vowed to never take one again after I realized the terrible toll they have on our environment.