

lawrence adrian

The resident orca population in Puget Sound is rapidly diminishing and there is no doubt pollution from ships is playing a role.

These endangered marine mammals are in urgent need of protection from cruise ships and attendant pollution