

C Ruder

No waste water should be discharged into WA state waters, the home of vibrant sea life and a rich ecological area. The balance must be maintained, and these huge floating hotels must rethink how they manage waste and how their activities affect the environment.