

Holly H.

We must all work to reduce and eliminate the pollution of our ocean waters. The consequences are progressive and cumulative - threatening not only wildlife and ocean ecology but our water systems necessary for human life. Preserve our quality of life and prevent catastrophic events in the future by supporting the responsible handling of all toxic wastes.