

Rich Elam

I know know I do not live near Puget Sound.

But as a retired bio-science researcher from UCSD I must say when Climate Change hits very hard it is going to effect our coastal water ways with changes we don't even know about to the water quality and the marine ecosystem.

If we allow destructive pollution and degeneration of this ecosystem now it will not be able to adapt to what Climate Change will bring.

And We the people who use it as a clean healthy waterway for fishing and recreation will suffer the consequences for our inaction Now.