

Jennifer Fox

The cruise ship industry is nothing but a climate and ecosystem nightmare that sucks up money from a society that can easily find better, safer alternatives for family vacations. We cannot afford to keep losing biodiversity for the sake of someone's profit. All our lives depend on a healthy, diverse ecosystem, and fossil fuels and pollution are killing our planet.